WOULD PROTECT WOMEN

Says All Negro Wants It Equal Chance Under the Law.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
STAUNTON, VA., May 8.—The fortieth annual session of the Virginia Negro Baptist State Convention began here this morning, with over 500 delegates present from all parts of the State. Rev. R. H. Bowling, D. D., of Norfolk, is president. Mayor W. H. Landes, Rev. O. F. Gregory, of the white Baptist Church, and Professor W. H. Kenny delivered addresses of welcome.

Rev. G. B. Howard, of Petersburg, in responding said: "The negroes only ask for an equal chance in the walks of life and protection under the laws, and they would go with the white man into hell to protect women from a field, whether he be white or black."

"Let us wipe out idleness and ignorance, and the country will be better and life and property will be safe in any part of the United States."

The feature of the session to-day was the annual address of President Bowling, who censured Thomas Dixon, Governors Vardaman and Davis, Senator Tillman, John Temple Graves and Governor-elect Hoke Smith, of Georgia, for stirring up race strife and hatred. He also denounced the Legislature of Florida for declaring the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the national Constitution unconstitutional. "I fear that we have no special friends to-day. Look at the action of the President dismissing a whole company of soldiers without trial."

"Then we thought we had a great friend in Senator Foraker, but it was all humbug, because when he was elected he wanted to appoint a negro to office in Cincinnati the great friend of the negro declared that it would never do, and would injure the party in Ohio. The negro must shift for himself. Do not sit down and wait, but get money, education, religion and character and by these you may hope to win."

LITTLE SAVAGES HAD NEVER BEEN IN SCHOOL OR CHURCH

Sons of Careless Father Did Not Know A From B—Nine-Year-Old Boy Worked in Factory at $1.25 Per Week.

In his report, submitted at the annual meeting of the Children's Home Society, Rev. Dr. W. J. Maybee, superintendent of the society, relates a number of pathetic incidents in connection with the work of caring for the little ones. Dr. Maybee says in part:

"Two brothers, whose ages are eleven and thirteen years, sons of a violent mountaineer, their mother being dead, were committed by the court. These boys had never seen inside of a school or church, or heard a prayer offered, or learned A from B, or the first principles of civilized society, while under the care of their father. They were naturally bright, responsive and industrious, and were placed, after a few weeks' training, in good families, where they are doing well."

"Another case was that of Willie, a bright boy of about ten years, whose mother had died some two years before, and whose father was a drunkard, who kept him from school to beg, and would spend the money for whiskey, get drunk himself, and compel Willie to drink with him. Then the father would beat him, turn him out in the cold, and order him to leave. On this occasion the boy fled to his grandmother, some twelve miles distant, who took him under her care, complained of his treatment, and had him committed by the court."

Working in Factories.

"Little Joe, a pale-faced lad of nine years, whose mother was dead, and abandoned by his father, was found working in a cigar factory twelve hours a day six days in the week, receiving as his wages $1.25 per week. This he paid to a great aunt with whom he boarded, who was too poor to send him to school, or to board him gratuitously. She was glad to have him committed and placed in a good family."
